

Ex Forti unveils a new creation of fine Italian craftsmanship, where the sculptural elegance of the material meets formal and functional rigor. The centerpiece of this work is the dialogue between the exquisite, noble wood by the premium brand Tablewise and textured brass, a signature element of the Ex Forti identity.

The majestic monolithic top in solid walnut is punctuated by precious brass joints, designed drawing upon the iconic and recognizable traits of Ex Forti's patterns - a refined tribute to the mastery of fine cabinetmaking and George Nakashima's celebrated butterfly joints.

Supporting the structure, the bases embody Ex Forti's pure aesthetic: an essential architecture of bronzed iron uprights, inlaid and softened by textured brass plates, crafted to ease the stiffness of the metal and generate an inviting, warm play of light and shadow.

The name of the table AURUM derives from the Latin word for gold - noble and direct - highlighting the value and warmth of the brass details.
